DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 1/21/08 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

3. Claims 15-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention lacks patentable utility. Let consider claim 15, the claim recites a method comprising the step of providing a memory device and sending a write address to the memory device. However, there is no utility asserted to the claimed invention. As per claim 17, the claim recites the steps of providing a memory and performing a write address mapping function. However, there is no utility asserted to the claimed invention.

Claims 16 and 18 are likewise rejected because they fail to cure the deficiency noted in the base claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 16 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

As per claim 16, the limitation "data within the write address" is unclear because write address does not include data.

As per claim 18, line 1, "the interleaved data" lacks of proper antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

6. Applicant's response has overcome the 112 first paragraph rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

8. Claim 25 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kim et al US Patent No. 6,668,343.

Kim et al discloses a circuit fig. 1 corresponding to the claimed modulator comprising a memory 112 for storing interleaved data (note at col. 5, lines 16-19, Kim teaches that the sequence of the input data is changed (interleaved) prior to being stored in the memory 112); the memory 112 includes a read and write address ports, see fig. 1; a write address generator coupled to the write address port see col. 5, lines 7-9; a read address generator 111 coupled to the read address port see fig. 1.

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claims 2-14, 19-24 are allowed over the prior art of record.

Response to Arguments

10. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 25 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Response to Arguments

11. Applicant's arguments filed 12/3/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. It is alleged that the claim 15 as amended contains patentable utility. Examiner disagrees. The claim merely recites method comprising the step of providing a memory device and sending a write address to the memory device. However, there is no utility asserted to the claimed invention expressly recited in the claim. In other words, the claim fails to specify or recite any utility associated with the claimed invention.
